Hoover Cautions United States to Keep Powder Dry

Former President Urges Cooperation With U.N. to Keep World Peace

Salt Lake City, Aug. 13 (AP)—In a world dominated by "fear and frustration," the United States should conserve its economic resources, "keep our powder dry," and cooperate with the United Nations "to maintain peace," ex-President Herbert Hoover cautioned today.

In a birthday statement issued on his arrival here from inspecting mining properties near Ploche, Mo., where he began his 30-year-old Saturday, the only living ex-President of the U. S. cited the differences between the period following World War I and the present.

"The dominant note in the world a year after World War I was hope and confidence," he said. "Today it is fear and frustration."

Hoover took occasion before leaving on a mountain trip with his son Allen, to score what he regards as Russian designs on Manchuria and areas adjacent to the Soviet Union.

He urged the U. S. to stop playing "Santa Claus" with the nations following, "hold the atomic bomb until there is real cooperation for lasting peace," and "at all times assert the principles of the Atlantic Charter."

Hoover, who recently made a world tour to study famine conditions at the behest of President Truman, said "far fewer nations" have freedom than 25 years ago and predicted "another world epidemic" from attempts to "reduce the human people to a level of perpetual poverty."

Quiet Celebration in Japan Tomorrow

Tokyo, Aug. 13 (AP)—Victory day will be celebrated quietly tomorrow in Japan.

The major military display will be a parade before the Imperial Palace of the Seventh Cavalry Division of the First Cavalry Division, because it has borne the brunt of occupation duties in the capital.

The general Japanese attitude on this occasion is gratification that the anniversary finds the country more peaceful and in better physical condition than was expected a year ago.

General MacArthur will wait until September 2—anniversary of the signing of the surrender aboard the battleship Missouri—to make a public statement on the first year of occupation Japan under his command. Headquarters sources said that date as more fitting for his public analysis of the situation.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—The treasury department today reported receipts for the week ending August 9: $119,833,825.00. Expenditures for the week ending August 9: $119,833,825.00. ## More Money for States Under New Social Security Program

Greenwich, Conn., Aug. 13 (AP)—Opposition to a new proposed site for the United Nations headquarters in the Greenwich-Stamford area because it "embraces the whole of the Greenwich watershed area" was voiced Monday by first selectman Wilbur M. Peck.

Peck expressed his views concerning the new site, which was recently substituted for a more densely populated area, at a closed meeting held by the U. N. Headquarters Commission in the town hall here with representatives of the Connecticut Committee on the U. N. Site, and officials of Greenwich and Westchester counties, New York.

A statement by Sir Angus Fletcher, commission chairman, following the closed meeting said that "details in support of opposition to this site with respect to water supply and sewerage" were given by Robert A. Kaufman, manager of the Greenwich Water Company, and Joseph W. Cone, Greenwich commissioner of public works.

Juan F. Yriarte, of Uruguay, was quoted by Sir Angus as saying

Molotov Says DeGasperi Fails to Blame Fascism; British Deport 1,000 Illegal Jew Immigrants to Cyprus by Troopship

Riot Breaks Out Among Young Jews, Troops Stoned While They Guard Streets

650 More Arrive

Hagana Radio Directs Revolt, Breaking of Curfew

Haifa, Palestine, Aug. 13 (AP)—The British deported 1,000 illegal Jewish immigrants to Cyprus today aboard two troopships while mobs of young Jews, aroused by the outlawed Hagana radio, rioted in the troopfilled streets.

But another 650 illegal Jewish immigrants arrived off the harbor of this half-Jewish, half-Arab port aboard the sloop Fenice.

The rioting Jews stoned troops of the British First Infantry Division, guarding the docks, and police.

The Hagana radio called on residents of Haifa to "storm the streets" and break the curfew, which the British imposed while the Jews were being loaded for deportation.

Even the Arab quarters in Haifa joined in defiance of the curfew. The Arabs, however, caused little disturbance and ventured only outside their own homes.

Several truckloads of youthful men and women were taken to police detention camps in Haifa for breaking the curfew.

No serious injuries were reported although several police and soldiers were reported struck by stones, bottles and other missiles hurled by the mobs.

As noon approached, the situation quieted considerably although large crowds still milled about the city near the docks. Police and helmeted soldiers strung barbed wire barricades at virtually every street intersection and appeared to have restored a measure of order.

Feeling Running High

In other parts of Haifa feeling was running high but apparently there was no concerted move to join the rioters in the other part of the city.

The arrival of the 700 additional immigrants brought to more than 2,000 the number of unscheduled Jewish wanderers confined in the Haifa harbor, even with deportation of the 1,000. Only 1,500 Jews are permitted to enter Palestine monthly under current British rules.

The Fenice several weeks ago brought another cargo of Jews from La Spezia in Italy. The sloop had been allowed to depart from Haifa because its passengers received landing certificates and thus were not illegal.

The Fenice apparently tried to land its passengers on the beach but was intercepted by a police gunboat. It refused an order to leave and the gunboat fired across its bow. The sloop was anchored outside the harbor and its passengers, under the British policy, probably will be deported.

The deportees, first to be shipped to Cyprus under stringent new British regulations designed to halt illegal immigration to Palestine, were loaded aboard the transports Empire Rival and Empire Heywood—formerly used to take British soldiers home on leave to England. British officers said a search of the refugees had revealed a few sticks of gelignite (an explosive) on their persons but that no other arms had been found.

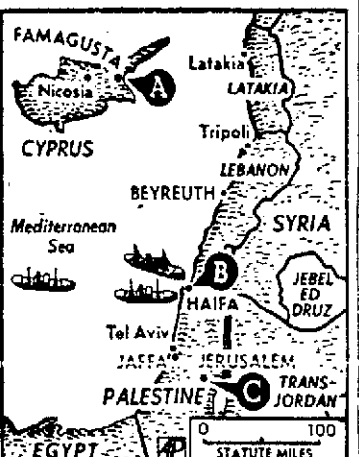

Preparations went forward for the disembarking of approximately 1,400 illegal immigrants from the refugee ships Hagana and Jewish Warrior, which have been anchored at Haifa since last week. They will not be deported, it was explained, since the British have decided that only illegal immigrants arriving after August 11 are subject to deportation.

Capping a long series of diplomatic, military and naval measures intended to check the flow of illegal immigrants from Europe to Palestine, the British last night announced a total blockade to bar them in the future, declaring that civil war threatened the Holy Land.

Coupled with the government's announced intention to shift to Cyprus the terminus of the "underground railway to Palestine," was an accusation that a highly-organized, Zionist-financed organization planned and assisted in the movement of refugees, thereby attempting "to force the hand of the British government" in future Palestine policy.

Soldiers Burned Fatally
Berlin, Aug. 13 (AP)—Six American soldiers were burned fatally and three others injured last night in a fire that broke out in a military police motor pool. The U. S. Army's provost marshal's office announced today. Names were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Troubled Land

At Famagusta (A) the British were reported building a detention camp for illegal Jewish immigrants in Palestine. Two more ships crowded with Jewish refugees arrived at Haifa (B). Jerusalem (C) was called an armed camp.

Counsel for Fay Moves for Review By Supreme Court

Says Blue Ribbon Jury Was Devoid of Men From Labor Field; Fay Has Stay

New City, N. Y., Aug. 13 (AP)—Counsel for Joseph S. Fay, labor leader convicted of extortion and conspiracy, moved today for supreme court review of the case on the grounds that the method of selecting blue ribbon juries was unconstitutional.

Appearing before Supreme Court Justice Stanley Reed at his summer home, Harold R. Medina, attorney for Fay, argued that the method of drawing the jury tended to create "rigged juries," and violated the due process and equal protection clauses of the 14th Amendment to the constitution.

"A blue ribbon jury is prone to convict," Medina said in appealing for permission to argue the question before the full supreme court. "It is inconsistent with democratic convictions, because poor people and workers are excluded. It has an economic bias, as it is made up of bankers, insurance men, brokers and manufacturers. It is a rigged jury."

Medina told Justice Reed that in the Fay case, 89 jurors were examined, that none was a laborer, only five were mechanics and one was a representative of labor.

The conviction of Fay, who was vice-president of the A.F.L. International Operating Engineers, was upheld last July 23 by the court of appeals and Fay was to begin serving his sentence last Thursday.

Free on Bail

However, a stay of sentence was granted pending yesterday's argument before Justice Reed. If the supreme court should hear the argument, and should decide the method of drawing the blue ribbon jury was unconstitutional, it would win a new trial for Fay. In the meantime, he would remain free on bail.

Justice Reed indicated he would render his decision on the argument by next night.

Whitman Knapp, assistant district attorney for New York county, argued the whole question was "without substance," and that there was nothing to prove that blue ribbon juries were chosen with "economic discrimination."

Fay was convicted with James Bove, former vice-president of the A.F.L. International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union.

LaFollette After G.O.P. Nomination

Three-Way Contest for Governor Also Today in Wisconsin Primary

(By The Associated Press)

A three-way gubernatorial contest and Senator Robert M. LaFollette's bid for Republican nomination after 12 years as a Progressive lent sparkle today to Wisconsin's primary.

With the LaFollette senatorial scrap spilling over into the arena of national politics, the Wisconsin balloting outshone the selection of G.O.P. candidates for governor and senator in Vermont, and a free-for-all for the Democratic nomination for governor in South Carolina.

Both LaFollette and the 83-year-old Republican governor, Walter S. Goodland, were snubbed when they sought the endorsement of the Wisconsin G.O.P. convention for additional terms. But they went after nomination in the primary, anyway, against these men backed by the party organization.

For the Senate, Circuit Judge Joseph McCarthy, former marine captain; for the governorship, investment banker Delbert J. Kennedy.

Competing in Vermont for the Republican nomination to the Senate are Storry R. Waterman, attorney and recently a member of the State Unemployment Compensation Commission, and Ralph E. Flanders, former head of the Boston Federal Reserve Bank and of the New England Council. Flanders has C.I.O. support. Gov. Mortimer R. Proctor, out for the G.O.P. nomination, is a former term is backing former Senator Ernest W. Gibson.

In South Carolina, 11 Democrats fought it out for the gubernatorial nomination. The present governor, Ransome J. Williams, has campaigned on a platform of replacing state liquor stores with privately operated ones. Legalized bars and pari-mutuel betting were principal plans of Del O'Neal, former night club operator and Hollywood stunt man.

Although rules of the Democratic primary limit voting to white members of the party, J. M. Hinton, state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has urged Negroes to try to vote.

Potatoes in Pyramids Awaiting Box Cars

Freehold, N. J., Aug. 13 (AP)—New Jersey farmers stacked potatoes in five-foot straw-covered pyramids today in an attempt to thwart spoilage while waiting for the box car shortage to ease.

Monmouth County Agricultural Agent M. A. Clark said that more cars were arriving daily, but that local farmers had been advised by the federal government its buyers would pay $1.67 1/2 per hundred pounds for the pyramided potatoes. Normally, the government buyers pay $2.10 per hundred pounds for sacked potatoes delivered to the box cars.

The government purchases, Clark said, would be made under the Steagall law adopted early in the war. Those purchases, he declared, would be used mainly for conversion into such products as starch and alcohol.

New Proposed U. N. Site at Greenwich Also Opposed

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—The government estimated today that states will get $152,208,000 more a year from the treasury for public help programs under the newly broadened Social Security Act.

This will swell the annual federal contribution to about $560,281,000, the federal security agency announced.

Simultaneously Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) told reporters that the "minimum American Social Security program" of the future should include payments of $150 a month to every unmarried person over 60 and $200 for married couples above that age.

There are a group of us who are going to start fighting toward that program when the new Congress convenes in January," Pepper said.

While the broadening amendments adopted in the closing days of the 79th Congress came nowhere near meeting Pepper's idea for a "minimum" program, they do permit the government, effective October 1:

To share up to $45 a month in payments to needy aged or blind persons. Previously the top limit was $40.

O.P.A. to Boost Prices of Autos To 25 Per Cent

Meet With Dealers to Thresh Out Amount of Next Increase; Fifth Boost

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—O.P.A. went to work today on still another boost in automobile prices—one slated to push to around 25 per cent the total average hike over 1942 ceilings.

With authorized prices already about 22 per cent higher than the level of four years ago, O.P.A. officials met with dealer representatives to thresh out the amount of the next increase.

Like the average 7.3 per cent boost implemented yesterday on top of a previous 15 per cent rise, the imminent additional price hike is required by the new price control law.

Yesterday's increases, ranging from $62 to $322 a car, restored dealers' prewar profit margins, as ordered by Congress. O.P.A. had cut these before the controversy began over whether to keep the price control agency in existence.

Now O.P.A. has to re-establish dealers' prewar margins, charges which it also reduced. These charges cover the expense of a final check-up on new cars.

O.P.A. officials previously had estimated that the handling charge adjustment would require a further five per cent increase in retail ceilings. Today they revised this downward to about three per cent.

Lee W. Moran, executive secretary of the National Automobile Dealers Association, expressed belief the public is willing to pay the higher prices, which he said are "only high enough to allow manufacturers and dealers to make a fair profit."

Moran predicted that prices will

Russian Says Speech Neglects to Reflect Italy's Resurgence to Democracy

Pays Tribute

Soviets Are Confident Country's Future Is Promising

By WILLIAM B. KING

Paris, Aug. 13 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov told the Paris peace conference today "fascist Italy bears a tremendous responsibility" but that "does not mean that Italy should lose her importance as a power in the Mediterranean."

Speaking in response to pleas for leniency expressed Saturday by Premier Alcide De Gasperi of Italy, Molotov paid tribute to the "historic services rendered by Italy." He said the Soviet people were "confident for the future of Italy as a great country."

He added, however, that De Gasperi's address was an "attempt to evade the fundamental problems of Italy's democratic resurgence."

"The head of the Italian delegation failed to condemn Fascism. He failed to make a single remark against the work of Mussolini," Molotov declared.

The Russian foreign minister said De Gasperi's suggestion for a year's delay in completing the peace terms, especially with relation to the future of Trieste, "can meet with no support from this conference."

He said Trieste should be put in the hands of the Italian people. "To exploit divergencies in the views between the allies," and was based on the hope that "it will be possible to upset certain compromises of the foreign ministers' council."

In passing, he also bespoke opposition to the suggestion that final settlement for Italy await the German peace terms, declaring: "Peace with Germany can have no bearing whatever on Trieste."

Molotov recalled that it was only after the Russian victory at Stalingrad and the Allied victories in North Africa and southern Italy that Italy got out of the war and "began to reorganize on a democratic basis."

"It was not easy for the new Italy to stand firm after the downfall of Fascism. Italy can not become a democratic country unless she roots out the last vestiges of Fascism," he said.

Molotov Charges
Molotov charged that "certain powers are trying to gain power in the Mediterranean at the expense of Italy and France," and said both countries should "feel responsibility as Mediterranean states."

To stand on its feet, Molotov said, "Italy must carry out radical changes. The new Italy must have the support of all nations."

"The Italian delegate does not attach importance to those parts of the peace treaty which mark the future of a new democratic Italy," Molotov said. "On them Italy has based its most important factor in the world."

Molotov paid tribute to Yugoslavia which he said "occupies a prominent place beside the Allies who defeated the Axis." He said Yugoslavia's claims of Istria "are more valid than those of Italy."

"Italy's claims have nothing in common with international justice," Molotov said.

The head Ethiopian delegate, Ato Akilou Habte Weld, following Molotov in the Italian debate, answered the applause which greeted him with the remark:

"At this touching moment I can not help remembering another scene in which Italian Fascists hissed the monarch before the League of Nations."

(He referred to the occasion when Emperor Haile Selassie made a personal appeal before the League at Geneva in a vain protest against the Italian invasion of Ethiopia in 1939.)

In his five-minute address the Ethiopian delegate recalled that "Italy used Eritrea and Somalia as bases for her attack against Ethiopia."

To Prime Minister Constantinos Tsaldaris, chief of the Greek delegation, recalled that in the first six months of the war "Greece supported entirely alone on the continent all the weight of the Italian aggression, augmented by Albanian military power."

Tsaldaris said Greece asked "no more than a just and fair peace" with Italy.

Chairman James F. Byrnes declared the discussion of the Italian statement closed after Molotov. Tsaldaris and Weld had spoken and no other delegate requested opportunity to make an address.

Broadcasting Co. Denies Murray Was Ruled Off Air

San Francisco, Aug. 13 (AP)—A C.I.O. official charged today that C.I.O. President Philip Murray had been "arbitrarily" ruled off the air last night, but an executive of the American Broadcasting Company promptly issued a denial. The A.B.C. network and Station KGO had scheduled the talk for 6 p. m. P.S.T., but before that hour the station announced it would not be heard.

Donald Henderson, international president of the C.I.O. Food, Tobacco, Agricultural and Allied Workers' Union, said: "The ruling was made one hour and a half before Mr. Murray was to have spoken over KGO in a program dealing with a National Labor Relations Board election involving 70,000 California cannery workers and their families and thousands of fruit and vegetable growers throughout the state."

Henderson quoted Don Searle, western vice-president of A.B.C., as telling him less than an hour before the scheduled broadcast that he did not "propose to inflict Philip Murray" on bay area listeners.

From Hollywood, Searle released this statement: "The statement is not true. It is far from the truth and Henderson knows it. Philip Murray is not the issue. The issue is simply that the N.L.R.B. ordered an election of the cannery workers to decide whether the C.I.O. or A.F.L. should act as the bargaining agent."

"ABC felt that a labor problem of that kind within a single industry was not of sufficient direct interest to the listening public to warrant the broadcast."

German Employees Halt Work Over Display of Food

Frankfurt, Germany, Aug. 13 (AP)—About 150 German employees of the American Army's biggest mess in Frankfurt staged a half-hour demonstration today.

The Germans—mostly waitresses, hat-check girls and counter girls who were joined by cooks and bus-boys—said they were "insulted" by a display of stolen food which had been seized from mess employees last night. They walked from their stations in the huge mess just as officers were pouring in for their dinner.

Descending on the mess manager, the employees demanded that a display of 50 to 60 pounds of food outside the building be removed. Most of them finally returned to work, but 12 who refused were arrested.

Lt. Col. Theodore G. Bilbo, Jr., headquarters mess officer and son of the Mississippi senator, said the food display was to show "complaining officers that we hold daily checks and periodic shakedowns to stop Germans from taking food from the mess."

Attribute Mother's Death To Remark Made in Jest

Eldorado, Ill., Aug. 13 (AP)—A mother's accidental death today was attributed by coroner Rees Turner to her off-hand remark made in jest.

Coroner Turner gave this version of the deadly by-play: "I'm so tired that if I had a gun I would shoot myself," laughed Mrs. Florence McCrory, 49, as she talked with a neighbor in her nearby New Haven home. Her son, Wilmer Lucian, 8, overheard, brought a shotgun from another room and, as he handed her the weapon, remarked jokingly:

"Here's the gun, mother, go ahead and shoot yourself."

In handing her the weapon, its hammer accidentally hit a radio and the resultant charge entered her left side at close range.

Mrs. McCrory died in an Eldorado hospital last night.

V-J Anniversary Tomorrow; Victory Parade Recalled

The first anniversary of V-J Day will be observed in Kingston with a band concert, and brief exercises at Academy Park at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. The ceremonies are being sponsored by Kingston Post of the American Legion.

It was a wild night in Kingston on Tuesday, August 14, 1945, when the news was flashed here that Japan had laid down her arms. Thousands jammed the sidewalks, as other thousands took part in the big Victory Parade.

The story of the night as told in The Freeman of August 15, 1945, in brief follows: "Kingston erupted shortly after 7 o'clock Tuesday night in the biggest celebration in its history, marking the end of the war with Japan, and a few minutes after the news of the end of the war was received Broadway and other thoroughfares were jammed with a milling, happy mass of humanity that sang, shouted, cheered and paraded until past midnight."

"While thousands jammed the sidewalks, other thousands marched in the Victory parade which formed an hour after the news was flashed to the city. The parade formed at Broadway and Strand, and proceeded up Broadway."

"The parade and celebration was even bigger than the one that marked V-E Day in Kingston."

Many families were having their evening meal when the news broke, and hurriedly pushed back their plates and joined in the celebration.

Wednesday practically all of the stores were closed and mail delivery was at a standstill and was not resumed until Thursday in Kingston. The banks were also closed.

Kingston's normal business life, virtually at a standstill on Wednesday following the tumultuous celebration of Tuesday night, was returning with all stores and banks open, but many of the factories remained closed and did not reopen until Friday, August 17.

The celebration marking the end of the war with Japan last August 14, was without question the biggest event ever staged in Kingston, with the entire city joining in the parade or jamming the sidewalks to view it.

While joy and happiness was the keynote of the evening many faces were lined with tears. Tears of joy for the ending of the war, and tears for those who had fallen in action.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy was grand marshal of the Victory Parade, and he expressed the opinion that it was the biggest parade ever to march through the streets of Kingston.

Kingston in World War 2 sent away its picked youth and more than 4,000 of the young men and women of the city were with the armed forces when the war suddenly ended.

Object to Portugal In U. N. Council

Russia, Poland, Mexico Protest Nations

New York, Aug. 13 (AP)—Soviet Russia, Poland and Mexico were reported today to have objected to admission of Portugal to the United Nations.

A member of the Security Council's membership committee said Polish delegate Jerzy Michalowski charged that the present regime in Portugal was similar to that of "Fascist Spain."

Mexican delegate Peon de Valle was said to have offered similar objections, while Alexei N. Kravitskiy of Russia gave no reasons for his opposition.

The United States and Great Britain supported Portugal's application. The clash over Portugal came after the applications of Ireland and Trans-Jordan had been sidetracked yesterday by Soviet opposition.

Flying Printing Concern Man Is Killed in Plane

Naugatuck, Conn., Aug. 13 (AP)—A two-passenger plane crashed in an open field today, resulting in fatal injuries to the pilot, the sole occupant.

The pilot, who died two hours after the accident, was identified as St. Mary's Hospital in Waterbury, Conn., as F. Kinsley Whitman, about 35, of (Somers) Road, Somers. Hospital officials said he was identified through papers in his possession.

Springfield police said that Whitman's wife told them that her husband had left Springfield, Mass., this morning to fly to New York. He was connected with a Springfield printing concern.

Stetson Hat Plant Stops

Philadelphia, Aug. 13 (AP)—A walkout of approximately 2,500 workers, termed "unauthorized" by union officials, shut down the John B. Stetson Company plant today. Company officials and representatives of Local 60, United Hat, Cap and Millinery Workers (A.F.L.), who insisted they did not know what caused the stoppage, scheduled a meeting later in the day.

Turned Away From Polls

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 13 (AP)—James M. Hinton, president of the South Carolina Conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he and four other negroes were "politely" turned away today as they sought to vote in the state's "white" Democratic primary election yesterday. Federal action would be sought "immediately" after the primary to gain voting privileges for negroes.

Central Hudson Is Trying Two-Way Radio Experiments

The Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation today revealed that it is conducting a series of tests and experiments at several locations to determine the effectiveness of two-way radio communications between its several headquarters and its maintenance trucks which operate throughout the Central Hudson Valley.

For many years, utility companies have used radio to communicate between fixed points during emergencies. However, its use to maintain continuous contact with field crews to speed the restoration of service following storm troubles as well as to speed routine work on both gas and electric lines, was not attempted by any utility until about 1932. At that time, Central Hudson pioneered in the effort by building two experimental stations which were licensed by the Federal Communications Commission as special emergency stations—no other existing classification being applicable to the new service.

In 1934, the company invited the Poughkeepsie Police Department to use its two-way radio system, since the police department did not yet have communication with its patrol cars. This arrangement was approved by the commission. The company and the police department jointly operated a single transmitter located on College Hill. In 1935, the Federal Communications Commission refused to permit this joint operation to continue. The police department was granted a permanent license but the company would have been required to continue on a temporary, experimental, and strictly emergency basis. Central Hudson considered this as an unsatisfactory arrangement and decided to abandon the venture for the time being. Accordingly, the transmitter was presented to the police department as a gift and is still in use at police headquarters.

In 1939, the company expanded its system of carrier current communication which had been in use since 1928 between its plants to cover one-way talking to its trucks. This system differs from space radio in that it uses the electric transmission and distribution lines as an aerial. At the present time, 33 trucks are equipped with receivers and the transmitters are located in Beacon, Newburgh, Kingston and Poughkeepsie. This system has served its purpose well during the war years and continues to give excellent service. However, war developments in space radio and a recent change in the policy of the Federal Communications Commission have opened up new possibilities for the use of space radio.

The commission recently announced its intention to place companies in a new and separate service classification, and to formulate regulations governing the operation of such stations. Under these circumstances, Central Hudson hopes to find it possible to install a two-way radio system in addition to its present carrier system, as an additional means of communication with its field forces.

Electrol Two-Way Valve

Among the articles being produced for a wide variety of industrial uses by Electrol Incorporated of 85 Grand street, manufacturers of precision hydraulic devices, is a new solenoid-operated two-way valve shown above.

Electrol Produces New 2-Way Valve

May Be Used for Wide Variety of Industrial Uses

A new solenoid-operated two-way valve is being produced for a wide variety of industrial uses by Electrol Incorporated at its Grand street plant. The local concern, which gained nationwide attention and acknowledgement in war production for its manufacture of precision hydraulic devices, is now producing mechanical devices for peacetime employment.

By combining a solenoid with a two-way valve in one small, compact unit, highly convenient remote control of the hydraulic valve has been achieved. There is a saving of the tubing and oil involved in the conventional all-hydraulic remote control system and the small size of the device makes it ideal for installation in hard-to-reach or congested areas, when such installations are desirable.

Electrol's solenoid two-way valve has the additional advantage of being extremely light and rugged, so that it imposes no penalty where weight is an important factor, and yet can stand the gaff in the most exacting service use.

An almost limitless variety of applications are seen for this device in general industry. A typical installation is its use to control the life on a popular lift truck manufactured in Chicago. The Electrol solenoid two-way valve weighs only 13 pounds and measures 3 9/16 inches long by 1 1/2 inches hexagon. The rugged housing, made of aluminum alloy bar stock, anodized, has two 1/4 inch NPT female ports and two mounting holes for easy attachment in operating position.

The device accommodates flows up to two gallons per minute and the pressure range is from a fraction of a pound per square inch up to 1,500 pounds per square inch. Two four-inch flexible lead wires are provided for certain installations. A 12-24 volt direct current is required to energize the continuous duty, precision-made solenoid, which also is of Electrol design and manufacture.

Commendation Ribbon Awarded Lieut. Col. Schmidt

Lieut. Col. John B. Schmidt, Inf., U.S.A., was awarded the Army Commendation Ribbon by Brigadier General Robert W. Crichton, commanding general of the Kobe Base, at a ceremony held at headquarters there July 30.

Lt. Col. Schmidt, who was metropolitan provost marshal at the time of the award, listed his address as 11 Bond street, Kingston.

Lt. Col. Schmidt was commended for meritorious service in Japan from November 27, 1945 to December 31, 1945, and from January 1, 1946 to April 30, 1946. The commendation states:

"During the period cited, Col. Schmidt, as Provost Marshal of Kobe, Honshu, Japan faced a tremendous task. Innumerable complex and difficult problems confronted him in restoring law and order to an area in which crime was rampant as a result of the near collapse of the civilian police force in the early stages of the occupation. His experience and thorough professional knowledge of all phases of police work were invaluable assets to the command. He aided in rehabilitating the faltering civilian police and by his counsel and humane but firm decisions effected changes in policies which were necessary not only for good police administration but for public welfare and justice. By careful analysis, detailed planning, keen judgment, and superior leadership he achieved results which were an inspiration to his subordinates."

Mussolini's Body Found in Trunk at Pavia Monastery

Milan, Italy, Aug. 13 (AP)—Police announced last night that the body of Benito Mussolini, which was stolen April 22 from an unmarked grave in a Potter's Field here by self-styled "Democratic Fascists," had been found in a trunk in a Pavia monastery.

The police said two monks had been taken into custody in the investigation in addition to three laymen already held. The body was being guarded at a local police headquarters pending the receipt of further instructions from Rome.

The Milan newspaper Corriere Della Sera said the civil police chief had received instructions from the national capital to bury the body "in sacred ground and in a place unknown to the public." However, this report was not confirmed by official sources here.

The body was found in a Carthusian monastery (Certosa) at Pavia, where, police said, it had been taken Sunday morning from the monastery of St. Angelo, its first hiding place after being exhumed at the Potter's Field.

The two monks held were identified as Padre Alberto Parini and Padre Enrico Zucca. Police said the three laymen previously taken into custody were Laccini Dornico, Antonio Parozzi and Fausto Gasperini.

Mussolini, and Claretta Petacci, his mistress, and 16 henchmen were executed by Italian Partisans near the Swiss border April 28, 1945. The former Duce's body was badly battered when it was displayed in the Milan Square. On May 1, 1945, Mussolini, Claretta Petacci and five executed Fascists were buried in Maggiore Cemetery here.

Skilled grave robbers exhumed the former Italian dictator's body four months ago. A letter, left beside the open coffin, identified the grave robbers as "Democratic Fascists" and was signed by that party's "Central Directive Committee." "The Duce is again among us," the letter said. "His mortal remains have been taken into custody by the Democratic Fascist Party." The letter predicted that the time would come when Mussolini's body would be borne through the streets of Italy and receive tribute from the people.

Padre Alberto, a monk at Sant' Angelo Dei Minori Monastery, had offered yesterday to tell police where the body was hidden. He said that one of the thieves had disclosed the secret to him at confession. He said he had been released from the confessional and could tell what he knew.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Cautious
Seattle, Aug. 13 (AP)—Navy Comdr. W. N. Thompson is in the eighth year of an international chess game that still doesn't appear near an end.
Thompson recently notified his opponent, Alfred Milner of Didsbury, England, of his 47th move. Thompson originally took over the competition when a friend died in 1938, but he and Milner started a new game after a couple of exchanges of correspondence.

Municipal Cleanup
Montello, Wis., Aug. 13 (AP)—This community of 1,200 has "cleared out the city hall" to make way for a washing machine manufacturer.
The city council, fire department and public library moved out and the municipal building was leased to Barlow and Seelig Manufacturing Co. of Ripon, Wis.

Retard London Housing
London, (AP)—Hooligans are endangering London's housing program by malicious damage. Magistrate Basil Henriques said in juvenile court as he bound over the 11-year-old boys who broke into a new house, stole workmen's tools, drilled holes in the floors and upse, containers of water and paraffin. The magistrate said hundreds of houses in the course of erection had been damaged recently.

No Fireworks at Feast Of Assumption This Year

BOLT means

but BALLANTINE Ale & Beer always means: Purity, Body, Flavor

Bolt is a steel pin that holds things in place. Bolt is a roll of linen or lace. Bolt, it's plain, is a confusing word; it fools you!

Ballantine, on the other hand, is a word that never fooled anybody. Ballantine always means PURITY, BODY, FLAVOR—the three qualities symbolized by Peter Ballantine's famous 3-ring trade mark. Look for the 3 rings; call for Ballantine.

There's no wheat in ale or beer

...the beverages of moderation

Wheat is needed to feed the world's hungry people. During the present emergency, here are three ways in which we can all co-operate with the President's Famine Emergency Committee:

1. Save and share wheat and fat products... Go light on all foods that take wheat, fats and oils—save breads, macaroni, cakes, cookies, pastries and deep-fried foods. Use drippings for pan-frying. Save salad oil—use boiled dressings.
2. Buy and serve more plentiful foods... Balance diets with the more plentiful foods, such as potatoes, fresh fruits and vegetables.
3. Waste NO food... Dress up today's leftovers for tomorrow. Make every crust count with melba toast, crumb-toppings, bread puddings and stuffings. Take no more than you can eat. Clean your plate. Turn in unusable fat salvage promptly.

SPENDING BILLIONS

Nearly a trillion dollars was spent in the United States in the six years of World War II. But before blaming the wastefulness of Uncle Sam, listen to Treasury Department analysts, who say that nearly 60 per cent of that figure was private spending by individuals and corporations. Another $50,000,000,000 was spent by state and local governments.

All told, the federal government is responsible for the spending of only the trifling sum of $365,000,000,000, part of which was paid for by taxes. The difference, or $209,000,000,000,000 is the largest part of the national debt.

Within the memory of many now living, Congress horrified people by spending $1,000,000,000 in a single year, in 1890. Now the expenditure of many times that amount causes no general revulsion. While, of course, the country is far richer than in 1890, the spending habit can easily grow. It is not so much our present debt which should alarm us, as the possibility that the spending habit may become fixed.

One way to get a raise: zoo men in Vienna stopped feeding the lions. When they roared, the keepers mentioned turning them loose. Most people have to do their own roaring.

PUBLIC SERVANT

Gifford Pinchot, perhaps Theodore Roosevelt's closest friend, former chief of the Forestry Service and governor of Pennsylvania for eight years, has entered the hospital for a check-up. This need not occasion alarm, for Mr. Pinchot has been doing this annually for many years around birthday time, and to it he attributes his having reached the age of 81 with full vigor.

Few public servants have been more useful. Conservation owes a debt beyond words to his constant advocacy, which proved potent in T.R.'s administration. He was an able and upright governor. At an age when most men would have abandoned outside activity, he worked out a system whereby planes and rafts were equipped with life-saving kits, containing fishing tackle and directions for obtaining drinkable water out of the ocean. This plan he succeeded in getting adopted at Washington. It must have saved an incalculable number of lives.

May his next years be as fruitful as the past.

A fisherman in Saginaw, Mich., has evolved a sort of tractor on stilts so that he can drive right into the water to lift his nets. What must the fish think?

ARCTIC FELLOWSHIPS

Anyone not afraid of cold feet can get a job studying the Arctic. It would be more accurate to say that any two can, for this is the number of paying fellowships offered by the Arctic Institute of North America. The plan is to do field work in Alaska, northern Canada, Labrador, Newfoundland or Greenland, along archaeological and scientific lines. Botanists, zoologists and foresters are especially desired.

The Institute's activities show that before long the Arctic is likely to become of particular interest to Americans. That the shortest way to the Orient is by plane over the Arctic is well known. Adventurous souls both in Siberia and Alaska are pushing out further and further into the regions of bitter cold. Before long it will be true to say that the American frontier lies north of the Arctic Circle.

The Smoky City is trying to eliminate its smoke. Posterity may be able to see what's under that pall.

PARIS TRIBULATIONS

The difficulties which we are facing at Paris, similar to those at San Francisco and at UN, is that the Russians really believe that the United States is constitutionally committed to Mr. Roosevelt's appeasements at Tehran and Yalta. Stalin, Roosevelt and Churchill made their deals and the Russians calculated their victory accordingly. Obviously, the United States can constitutionally only be committed with finality by a treaty ratified by the Senate. Neither a President nor a Secretary of State is empowered to determine, on his own, the policy of this country, although in the day-by-day conduct of policy they may go far. It is obvious that no treaty incorporating all the abuses of power and the injustices arranged at Tehran and Yalta could ever be ratified by a Senate subject not so much to organized and vociferous pressure groups as to public opinion, expressed by a free electorate.

The result is that whereas Molotov wants his pound of flesh, the United States cannot cut it off a living body. In effect, what Russia desires is a conqueror's peace; that is, a Russian hegemony over Europe and over so much of Asia as is contiguous to Russia. She is willing to take the United States and Great Britain in as partners, but as junior partners. In addition, the Russians desire to establish for themselves, in their country, an industry created out of the booty of war by stripping and denuding conquered and even so-called friendly countries of their possessions. Further, the Russians desire to reduce the European standard of living to below that of Soviet Russia, which is barbarous, the object of this being twofold: first, to safeguard Russia from internal unrest due to comparisons with life in other countries; and secondly, so to maintain disorder, unrest and dissatisfaction in European and Asiatic countries as to make a Communist world revolution and therefore a Moscow world hegemony inevitable and achievable at small cost to Russia.

But even more startling to the Western world has been the Russian rejection of all democratic processes in the intercourse among nations. The profligate use of the veto; the attempt to pack UN by demanding membership for Russian provinces, like the Ukraine, White Russia, and Mongolia, which are by no stretch of the wildest imagination, sovereign states; the rejection of decisions by majority vote; the general antagonism to the small countries and the insistence upon the elevation of the Big Four—these world organization back to the Treaty of Tilsit. All the progress—however feeble and unsure—that has been made among nations since the Treaty of Versailles, has literally been wiped out by Russian intransigence.

There is the trouble. Certainly no one can blame Secretary of State Byrnes for an unwillingness to meet the Russians halfway, nay, three-quarters of the way. If anything, he can be criticized for waiting too long to discover the Russian program and the answering and uncompromising adherence to it by Soviet Russia and her satellites. He risked much appeasing the Russians, but he would not be an American, and hardly a man, if he permitted himself to be taken into camp altogether. He had to hit back or be treacherous to his own country's future. And he is apparently hitting back and hard.

And this much we need to know: The Russians will retreat, back down, rear up; they will appear friendly at times and give the impression of great compromises on policy. But unless decisions are publicly arrived at and incorporated in binding treaties without secret commitments, nothing beneficial will be accomplished. Lenin often said that the revolution may have to retreat several paces before it can make a great stride forward, and his own New Economic Policy was such a retreat, to lead only to complete destruction of private property. In the international field similar retreats may have to be made. The Russians regard the Stalin-Hitler Alliance, the Stalin-Roosevelt-Churchill Alliance, their current arrangements with the Japanese and their treaty with Chiang Kai-shek as such retreats. But the Russian policy is fixed; it is the world Communist state, centering upon Moscow. Toward the success of this policy, Russia has made great strides. ## CONSTIPATION

Some years ago I visited a large sanatorium where rough foods were the first thought in the correction or prevention of constipation. As a lazy bowel is the commonest cause of constipation, it is only right that following the idea that "treat commonest causes first," rough foods should be used to wake up a lazy or atonic liver—bowel lacking tone. However, the builder or builders of this health sanatorium did not watch "every" detail was shown by the fact that in every toilet in front of the stool a small bench several inches high had been installed.

It has been known for many years that during the act of defecation, getting rid of wastes from the lower bowel, the abdomen and thighs must come close together to aid the bowel muscle and abdominal muscles to force out the waste. Whoever has allowed the seats to be too high, by placing the feet on the small bench, the muscles were in a better position to force out wastes.

However a lazy bowel is not the only cause of constipation as it is known that a spastic type of constipation is very common, caused by emotional disturbances. In this type of constipation the circular muscles of the bowel contract strongly and actually prevent wastes from moving along and out of the body. Just as coarse or rough foods are helpful in stimulating a lazy bowel, by stimulating a nervous bowel they cause spasms which cause constipation alternating with diarrhoea—mucous colitis.

In the treatment of spastic constipation the first thought then is to avoid the rough foods so useful in the other form of constipation, that is coarse vegetables, raw fruits and salads.

The patient with this type of constipation must learn to live on a quiet or calm level. "He must avoid rush and hurry; an attempt should be made to relieve him of anxieties. Mineral oil or mineral oil and agar is useful."

The foods useful in spastic constipation are: well cooked fresh meats; cooked green vegetables; cooked fruits; plenty of liquids; eggs; butter; clear soup; custards; plain cake.

The Catch

Facts for Vets

Alfred N., a staff sergeant, contracted malaria while serving in the Pacific theatre. After staying in the hospital for treatment, he was released and returned to duty. But following his discharge from the army, Alfred suffered other malaria attacks and required medical care. Because of his illness, his savings were rapidly being depleted. He asked advice from the Home Service department of his local Red Cross chapter.

This veteran was told that he could obtain out-patient treatment for his malarial condition. This out-patient care includes all necessary medical attention and medicines. It can be given either at a Veterans Administration hospital or regional office or by a designated physician or dentist in the community.

A Home Service worker in his Red Cross chapter advised Alfred to apply to the Veterans Administration for such out-patient treatment. He was aided in preparing the application and in collecting the evidence showing that he actually did incur the malaria in service, a fact that it is necessary to establish before Alfred will be eligible for out-patient treatment. When the Veterans Administration has received the application, it will determine Alfred's eligibility and, if the decision is favorable, will notify him as to the name and address of the physician in his home town to whom he is to report. Another important point is that Alfred will be supplied with medicines necessary to treat his malaria.

New Black Stage

Berlin, (AP)—"Stragglers" have put American Military Government wise to an extensive black market in food-ration cards. The ordinary citizen comes promptly to the city offices in which ration cards are distributed and lines up in the course of the first five days of each month, when new cards are handed out. "Stragglers," who appeared in ten of thousands, are their new cards about the middle of the month. Food officers worried how anybody could let 10 or more days of the month pass without feeling hungry. They found that thousands of Berliners called for their ration cards, promptly sold them in the black market for fabulous prices (one man collected $4,800 from the sale of his family's food cards), and then joined relatives in the country who had food.

"At Century's Turn"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

The formal opening of the new Ulster County TB Hospital on the Kijkuit, off the Boulevard, was held on Sunday afternoon, December 20, 1931, with impressive ceremonies.

During the afternoon approximately 4,000 residents of the city and county inspected the hospital. The plans for the building had been drafted by Teller & Halverson, local architects.

Supervisor Roscoe V. Elsworth, now a supreme court justice, presided as master of ceremonies. He was chairman that year of the supervisors' committee on the new hospital.

Others who spoke were the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seelye, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church, and a member of the board of managers of the hospital, Sam Bernstein, Sr., president of the hospital board; Dr. Frederic Holcomb, who served as first superintendent of the hospital, and Judge Joseph M. Fowler, long active in TB hospital activities.

It is also interesting to recall that the Ulster County Gun Club at its annual meeting held on December 15, 1931, in Von Berg's Restaurant on Wall street, elected Rev. Caunitz as president, Roy M. Sutliff, vice president, and Victor H. Roth, secretary and treasurer.

The gun club was organized on March 6, 1928.

Turning to local affairs it was on December 18, 1931, that Clarence L. Dumm was elected principal of the Kingston High School to fill the post left vacant by the elevation of Principal Bart C. Vandingen to the post of superintendent of schools.

Mr. Van Ingen succeeded Dr. Myron J. Michael, who died while still serving as superintendent of schools, a post he had successfully filled for 21 years.

The new principal for several years had been serving as vice principal of the high school. He still holds the post of principal of the school.

Francis R. Wood who had served as one of the local letter carriers of the post office department, died on December 21, 1931. During many years he delivered mail in Kingston he was widely and favorably known.

During the two weeks I was on vacation I was shocked to learn of the death of Henry C. Connelly, a man whom I had known many years and held in high esteem.

Mr. Connelly for 40 years was engaged in the retail drug business downtown as head of the Connelly Drug Co. He retired in 1939 when he sold the business to Carl Weber, well known lower Broadway druggist.

Mr. Connelly was chairman of the Kingston draft board and devoted long hours to the duties of the office.

During the 40 years he was engaged in the drug business downtown he saw many changes in the business life of the city.

Older readers will recall the years when the L. B. Van Wageningen Dry Goods Co., opened a large store on East Strand, and later moved to Wall street. There was also the Van Deusen Brothers large retail drug house on the Strand, as well as the hardware store of J. T. Johnson.

Ben Johnston, the Strand druggist, is still in business on the Strand, but among the stores that have long since disappeared are Simon Brothers on lower Broadway, the Laycock pharmacy on lower Broadway, Kingsburg Brothers on the Strand and the firm of McGilligan & Hale, ship chandlers.

There was also the Jacob Harris shoe store, and the hat store of William B. Tervilliger as well as the store of David Weil, and that operated for years by Joseph Block.

Truman's Extreme Proposal to Congress on Work Stoppages Leaves Nation Wide Open for Drastic Tieups in Future

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 13—All the agitation of a few months ago, urging President Truman and Congress to do something about the monopolies that have grown up among labor unions, has come to naught.

Such work stoppages as that which tied up the nation's transportation system can happen again. President Truman himself blocked all action by making such an extreme proposal to Congress that it fell by the wayside, and then vetoed the Case Bill which would have adjusted labor-management relations. The Democratic party in Congress voted to sustain that veto, and thus the labor union politicians have had their way and can go on exploiting shortages in manpower.

The need for some of the provisions in the Case Bill has just been emphasized by Gerald D. Reilly, Democrat, who retired of his own volition this week as a member of the National Labor Relations Board. He suggests six changes in the Wagner Act and its administration. Two of these, he points out, can be accomplished by the National Labor Relations Board itself by changing its rules, and four of the changes must be made by Congress.

Mr. Reilly thinks the board itself should give employers the right to petition for collective bargaining elections where a single union claims representation rights and threatens a strike without resorting to the regular procedures. This is impossible now.

The next revision of importance, which he says could also be accomplished by a change in the board's rules, would give the employer the right to speak freely during campaigns when unions are being organized. At the present time, while the constitution guarantees the right of free speech, the board construes this as a limited right. If the employer, by the tone of his voice or by a few phrases which can be construed as coercive in intent, expresses his viewpoint, he can be harassed with an "unfair labor practice" charge before the board.

Mr. Reilly's suggestions come from years of experience and objective handling of labor disputes. But the Democratic party, by its alliance with the union labor vote, has set itself against any such changes. This way boycotted, and finally, the transfer to the department of Labor of certain prosecuting and enforcement functions now exercised by the board, this would make the board wholly a judicial institution.

HOME BUREAU

Entries Close Soon

With August 21 set as the date for the Ulster County Fair to be held at Forsyth Park, Kingston, only a few more days remain to get entries for the Home Bureau Office, 280 Wall street, Kingston.

An entry fee of ten percent of the first premium must accompany an entry. Some premium lists still are available.

All residents of the county—men, women and children—are eligible to compete for the 240 premiums offered by this department. A sweepstake prize of $10 will be given to the person who receives the largest number of prize points, provided she has won a prize in three of five sections.

In the foods section, it is expected that the sugarless dessert will attract considerable attention. Any type of dessert and any sugar substitute may be used, but no sugar. If you have such a dessert that is well liked by your family, there are said to be a couple thousand other cooks in the county that would like to know about it.

Crafts and hobbies will be more inclusive than ever, with something to attract everyone. There will be crocheted and tatted articles, metal work, large and small articles, needlework, dresser or table cloths, luncheon sets, towels and ceramics. There'll be five classes of photography in which entrants are certain to find a place for their best pictures. Under flower arrangement, there's occasional, Christmas greens, miniature, winter bouquet and old-fashioned bouquet. Crafts and hobbies entries may be made by amateurs only.

In the furniture and furnishings section prizes are particularly high. Different varieties of furniture, trays, quilts, afghans, table covers, bedspreads and rugs make up the classes. Those who have gone to the trouble to make a quilt are advised to bring it in; first prize is $5. In case of an old quilt made by a relative or friend, that has a separate class. The clothing section includes everything from suits to gloves, hats, socks, aprons, etc. There is also a section for mended articles.

The Homemaking Department will be found at the pavilion. Articles must be brought there before 9 o'clock. They must be left until 5 o'clock.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By JAMES DEVLIN

(For Hal Boyle)

Herford, Germany (AP)—Without peanuts and popcorn, an estimated two dozen circuses are bringing some cheer to the civilian population and occupation troops in Germany's drab, ruined cities.

The estimate is that of Mario Jean Mayerhoff, manager of the Althoff Circus playing here.

Mayerhoff, an anti-Nazi born in Berlin of Argentine parents and who bears a concentration camp number 179567 tattooed on his left forearm, spoke ruefully of hard ships under which the circuses operate. He said a number of the great shows suffered serious bomb damage, and that few had any wild animals left. Most, though, have plenty of trained horses.

Food is scarce for both artists and animals. Transportation is a constant problem. Much of the equipment is old and battered. German town officials concerned with bomb damage and refugees are loathe to give much time or cooperation to the circuses.

Yet, the show goes on. The Althoff Circus is typical of the post war shows. It's one tent, and is surrounded by horse-drawn trailers in which the performers live.

A far cry from the great shows that appear in Madison Square Garden, it has only one ring, but the types of acts are fundamentally the same.

Americans notice two main differences from their type of shows. The music is provided by an orchestra instead of a band. And the clowns are vocal, often halting to tell jokes instead of relying solely on pantomime.

Biggest applause went to Gunter Brysch, a 15-year-old Hamburg boy, who did 75 consecutive backflips on a trampoline. Then he was catapulted off a seesaw, landed in a chair on a partner's shoulders.

Troops and civilians alike were spontaneous in applauding the thrillers and laughing at the jokes.

Mom Mulkey Will Hold Picnic Sunday

Cougar, Wash., Aug. 13 (AP)—"Mom" Mulkey used to tell the 335 soldiers she wrote that as soon as the war was over she'd have a picnic for them.

Now gray-haired Mrs. P. A. Mulkey has decided next Sunday is the time for it. She's figuring on about 300—many of whom she's never met—for the barbecue, including one ex-serviceman from as far away as Atlanta, Ga.

"Mom" Mulkey is going to dedicate a plaque to "her boys," 15 of whom will have gold stars behind their names. She began writing servicemen in 1942 and before long there were 335 of them and she was writing 35 letters a day. "I don't know now where I did get all 335 names," she said. Sometimes we'd pick up hitch hikers and we'd get to talking and find out they and their buddies weren't getting any letters, so I'd just put them on my list."

Reds Want New Treaty

London, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Moscow radio announced today that Russia had informed Turkey of her desire for a new international treaty placing the administration of The Dardanelles in the hands of the Black Sea powers and jointly charging the Soviet Union and Turkey with defense of the strategic straits.

Warners Held in Big Smuggling and Black Market Ring

Berlin, Aug. 13 (AP)—The army detained two brothers in Berlin and Paris today after smashing what criminal investigators called a potential smuggling and black market ring which might have profited the operators $2,000,000 a year.

Lewis L. Warner, 23, an airline employee and former Air Corps lieutenant, was held here. Oscar Selig Warner, 29, former naval lieutenant, was detained in Paris. The Criminal Investigation Division of the U. S. Army said the provost marshal in Washington had been asked to start action against three other members of the Warner family.

David L. Warner, the father; his son, Alfred Warner of New York; and son Robert Warner, an U.N.R.R.A. employee in Shanghai. The four brothers and the father all originally lived at 253 West 72nd street, New York.

The army said their operations were in Europe, Asia and North America and that by late July, one of the brothers was "sending home $10,000 weekly in travelers checks and currency." No charges have been filed yet against any of the five.

A C.I.D. spokesman said Lewis probably would be accused of trading with the enemy and engaging in business for profit without a license in contravention of army rules.

Criminal investigation agents exhibited stacks of seized materials, cash and letters which they said came from Lewis and Oscar. The C.I.D. said David L. Warner, the father, headed the business and his sons abroad were outlets. The agents said Lewis and Oscar had signed statements about transactions in Paris and Berlin involving many thousands of francs and marks.

The army's spokesman said this was one typical transaction: Oscar in Paris, bought 200 watches for about $12 each and sent them to Lewis in Berlin, who sold them for $150 each.

(War Department officials in Washington refused to comment on the case.)

(In Newark, Joseph H. Warner, an attorney who said he was a spokesman for the father, said the older Warner asserted: "I absolutely deny any knowledge of these activities. When I am informed of the charges, I may have something to say." The father earlier called the charges "ludicrous" and locked himself into his two-room apartment in New York, refusing to talk to anyone.)

Saboteurs Dropped In 'Bomb' Containers

Dayton, O., Aug. 13 (AP)—German saboteurs and agents encased in bomb-shaped containers were dropped three to a package behind Allied lines during the war, Air Materiel Command at Wright Field disclosed today.

The 10-foot, 490 pound containers, now under study at Wright by A.M.C. technical intelligence experts, each had three men strapped within. Directly above them, A.M.C. said, was a compartment containing four parachutes.

Main advantage: "It enabled men of special skills to be dropped without jumping experience."

Bread Supply Low

Chicago, Aug. 13 (AP)—Chicago's bread supply continued below normal today as the result of a strike for wage increases by 550 members of the A.F.L. Bakery and Confectionery Workers Union. The strike started last Saturday.

REPORT 'LUDICROUS' Discharged W.A.A. Official Says He Helped Fields

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—William J. Gilrein, a discharged War Assets Administration official, testified today he ordered use of the system of allocation which permitted Benjamin F. Fields to obtain 539 rolls of scarce wire screening.

Gilrein told the House Surplus Property Committee he instructed a subordinate, Anthony J. Flood of the Philadelphia W.A.A. office, to adhere to procedure used in the past by the agency, rather than follow instructions of a new manual from Washington.

Under the old method, prospective buyers placing huge orders were given a percentage of their bid. Under the new system, small bidders had their orders filled first and the larger concerns got what was left, if any.

Gilrein also told the committee he was fired as a sales manager in the Philadelphia office within a week after he was questioned in private by committee investigators.

He declared, however, that his discharge had no connection with the Fields transaction.

"I was being gunned long before Fields' name was in the papers," he said.

Gilrein gave his testimony as the committee sought to learn who in the government granted "special favors" to Fields to help him buy scarce goods.

Mrs. Durant Says Army Charges Are Baseless

Frankfurt, Germany, Aug. 13 (AP)—Greying W.A.C. Capt. Kathleen B. Nash Durant, wearing her uniform and service medals, asserted in an interview today that army charges against her in the $150,000 Hesse crown jewels theft were "baseless."

Asked if she expected acquittal, Mrs. Durant replied: "Naturally."

The 43-year-old officer, recent bride of another defendant in the theft, Col. Jack W. Durant of Chicago, will go on trial Friday before a court martial on charges of larceny, embezzlement, conspiracy and absence without leave.

Her husband and Maj. David F. Watson of Burlingame, Calif., have been named by the army as her fellow conspirators.

"If the court says I committed any of the criminal acts alleged, then hundreds of people in this theatre and thousands of people in the United States have unclean hands," Mrs. Durant said. Her army-appointed attorney, Lt. Col. John S. Dwinell, Brooklyn, restrained her from elaborating on this assertion.

The organization is also planning to hold the annual ball in October, and committee reports on the progress made in arranging for the event will be made at the meeting.

Commander Howard Pangburn said today that he expected every member of the organization to be present tonight.

He has been serving as a conductor on the old Ulster & Delaware Railroad, now the Catskill Mountain Branch, for a number of years, and plans to retire from active railroad service in the near future.

Watches Are Still On the Scarce List

New York, Aug. 13 (AP)—Watches are still on the scarce list, and for the immediate future "there is no prospect of oversupply for any concern operating legitimately in the watch field," S. Ralph Lazrus, president of the American Watch Assemblers Association, said today.

Lazrus told the annual convention of the American Retail Jewelers Association that domestic companies "are having no trouble in selling all the watches they can produce."

Sydney H. Ball, New York mining geologist, said 1945 was the most prosperous year the diamond industry had enjoyed.

Sales of rough diamonds reached an all-time high of almost $100,000,000, Ball said.

me to give up my job, Henry, when we are married?

Glidden Tour Revival Puts Old Gas Buggies on Roads

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Newsfeatures Writer

New York, Aug. 13 (AP)—Four score gas buggies and puddle jumpers from 'way back are all slicked up and set to go chugging across half America on a sentimental journey into the past—and you needn't send a horse, thanks.

The Veteran Motor Car Club of America, comprised of hobbyists, who love those old cars like junior loves his puppy dog, is sponsoring a cavalcade of high-wheelers, tiller drives and steamers to start Saturday (August 17). It's a week-long revival of the Glidden Tour. In the old days (before World War I, that is), the Glidden was a spine-shaking endurance contest staged annually to prove that horseless carriages really could take it.

One group of old-timers will start from mid-town Gotham, and others will set out from Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago.

rendezvous at Albany, N. Y. The entourage will stay together then for daily 30-mile-a-day stages to Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo, N. Y. There they are to be loaded on a Great Lakes boat for a run to Detroit and two days of ceremony. Next will come a boat trip to Cleveland, after which the drivers will crank up anew for a run to Columbus, O., the end of the tour. The total land distance will be a bit over 500 miles.

Five trophies, awarded on the basis of performance, will be presented by the Ford Motor Company, General Motors Corporation, Thompson Products, Firestone Tire and Rubber Company and the Texas Company. There'll be no attempt to tear off speed records on 1946 highways, even-though some of the old timers were record holders in their day and at least one Stanley Steamer (remember?) in the caravan still can do better than 10 miles an hour.

Another of the cars taking part will be historic "Number 16," a 1906 Locomobile which won the 1906 Vanderbilt Cup race. Now it belongs to Peter Heick, a commercial artist, but riding in it will be George Robertson, who drove it in that long-ago competition.

James Melton, singing star and chairman of the tour committee, will be at the wheel of a 1907 Stanley which Melton owns. On the latter will be a special Connecticut license plate "GENT," issued in tribute to its ancient reputation

Kingston Athletic Association to Sponsor Semi-Pro Football Here

Committee Named To Begin Plans; Ruzzo Backs Club

Kias and Burke Will Aid in Selection of Men for Team: Big Games Are Sought

At a meeting of the Kingston Athletic Association, Monday night, definite plans were made for the promotion of a semi-pro football team in Kingston this fall.

There was plenty of enthusiasm among the 25 sports-minded men in attendance at the session in the Elks Club, where discussion ran along the lines of furnishing this city with one of the finest grid events in local sports annals.

When no question of finances arose, Victor Ruzzo, newly elected vice president of the association, brushed aside any aspects of treasury problems by offering to back the venture with capital.

Joining Ruzzo was Jack "Zip" Zaccaro, former Kingston High School and Yellow Jacket star, who offered $200 to be used as a surplus fund.

"I'm willing to give the team all the money it needs to buy equipment for the first game," President Ruzzo said. He added that he desired no profit, and would stand for any losses, if they occur, in the venture.

Ruzzo informed the gathering that his offer was made strictly in the interest of raising money to help promote sports among the youth of Kingston. Any and all profits will go to the K.A.A. treasury.

This generous offer relieves any pressure for the sort experienced by the Yellow Jacket football club which has had to scrape and scratch for funds to back its efforts to furnish local grid fans with exhibitions in pre-war years.

Efforts to bring Kingston back into the limelight on the gridiron were started by Larry Glennon, Charles Laible, Ed Minasian and Ed Burgvin, all former members of Kingston High School and Yellow Jacket teams. Glennon spoke of the proposed team last night and estimated the cost of fielding such a club.

Coaches to Help

A committee including G. Warren Kias, athletic director at Kingston High School; Coach Will Burke, newly-signed football mentor at K.H.S., and formerly of Highland; Larry Glennon, ex-Kias and Yellow Jacket player; Andy Murphy, who formerly played football at Notre Dame and with K.H.S.; and Charlie Reible, ex-K.H.S. and Yellow Jacket center, both Kias and Burke attended the meeting and said they would be pleased to serve on the committee. Sam Moss will be treasurer.

Negotiations already are under way to secure local players and some outsiders if necessary. Glennon said it also was announced that opposing clubs, such as the Patterson Panthers, the Long Island Indians and other professional clubs are being sought for games here.

Davitt Elected President

Tommy Davitt was elected president of the Kingston Athletic Association prior to the football meeting last night. He succeeds Dr. Francis J. O'Connor, former president.

Others elected into office were Victor Ruzzo, vice president; Addison Jones, second vice president; G. Warren Kias, third vice president; Robert L. Rhinehart, secretary; Sam Moss, treasurer; and Dick McGowan, Joe Hoffman, "Bing" Van Eysie, Joe Connor, Jim Volker and Bernard A. Culleton. President Davitt took the floor after his election and voiced an urgent need for a concerted drive by all members to help in the promotion of the organization which is devoted to assist in the sports for the youth of the city.

Throughout the evening a number of speakers were heard from who agreed their opinions on the possibility of staging another big league baseball attraction this year. Bernard Culleton, Warren Smith, Ed Coughlin, and Ad Jones all spoke in regard to the possibility of a game but no definite action was taken.

Meeting Stated Thursday

A special meeting for all members of the Kingston Athletic Association and for all those interested in joining the organization, is scheduled Thursday evening at the Elks Club at which time an announcement will be made. The meeting will start at 8 o'clock.

Stan Musial, Cardinals—Collected four hits against Cubs, running streak to 12 hits in 14 at bats, as tenth straight loss, 3-2.

Musial's Great Pace Overshadows All Major Hitting Clips

Cardinal Ace Scores Both Walker and Hopp in Drive to Win Batting Crown

New York, Aug. 13 (AP)—Stan Musial's torrid batting pace, which added 13 points to his average and advanced the St. Louis Cardinal star from third to first place in the National League, overshadowed all other hitting feats in the week ending Sunday.

Although both Mickey Vernon of Washington and Ted Williams of Boston dropped off, they retained their respective positions in the American League race. Vernon topped the heap with a .351 average, including Sunday's games. Williams' second place .344 was eight points better than Johnny Pesky of Boston who was hitting .336.

Musial scorched past both Dixie Walker of Brooklyn and Johnny Hopp of Boston with an eight-hit day Sunday against Cincinnati. While the St. Louis outfielder was boosting his mark to .369, Hopp was slipping off to .364 and Walker was now diving from the lead to third place at .362, a 16-point drop.

Johnny Mize of New York, sidelined with a broken hand, remained in fourth place at .339, followed by Phil Cavarretta of Chicago, .308. Other Nationals in the first ten were Billy Herman, Boston, .305; Ed Stanky, Brooklyn, .300; and Enos Slaughter, St. Louis, .302; Tommy Holmes, Boston, .300 and Frank McCormick, Philadelphia, .299.

Next behind Pesky in the American race came Luke Appling of Chicago at .328 followed by Detroit's George Kell, and Cleveland's Hank Edwards, deadlocked at .322. Dominic DiMaggio of Boston was seventh, .316 with Johnny Berardino, St. Louis, .308; Lou Boudreau of Cleveland, .302 and Vern Stephens of St. Louis, .298 rounding out the top ten. Boudreau was the only newcomer.

Beazley now has two straight wins and Beazley's three-hit, 5-0, job on Chicago yesterday may be an indication of things to come.

The Cubs find themselves daily settling back closer and closer to the fourth-place Boston Braves. Claude Passeau, who twisted his arm last week, is expected to return today.

Marty Marion's slow bouncer in the third inning, was the loser as St. Louis came up with three runs in the inning.

Brooklyn led the lead by rallying with three runs in the seventh inning for a 3-2 decision over New York Giants. Homers by Walker Cooper and ex-Dodger Jack Graham had given Ken Trinkle a 2-0 margin until four singles, a walk and an error by Goody Rosen changed the story.

Vic Lombardi recorded his ninth in a row over New York. He was lifted for a pinch hitter and Ralph Branca finished. Cincinnati lost its seventh straight, bowing to Pittsburgh's Ed Bahr, 3-2. The rookie right-hander scattered seven hits, including three doubles by First Baseman Bert Haas, to decision Ed Houser.

Detroit shaded Cleveland, 3-2, in 10 innings in the only American League tilt moving to within two games of the second place New York Yankees. Alton, who got the verdict, and George Carter teamed up on a three-hit pitching job to defeat Joe Berry.

A scheduled Chicago-St. Louis Browns night game was rained out. Others were not scheduled.

Well-Matched Race Set for Saratoga Feature Run Today

$5000 Saratoga Takes Spotlight in Mile Test for Four-Year-Olds and Upward

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 13 (AP)—A well-matched field of seven middle-distance horses has been named for the $5,000 Saratoga, a mile test for four-year-olds and upward which tops the racing program at the Saratoga track today.

Harry La Montagne's Larky Day, John B. Theall's King Dorsett and George Gilbert Jr. will share top weight of 121 pounds. The others are Edward Lasker's Flood Town and Harry Straus' New Moon, under 119 pounds each; and B. F. Lister's Eternity and the Green Tree Stable's Coincidence, 116 each.

The $5,000 Saratoga Purse which featured yesterday's program at Saratoga was won by A. C. Ernst's Aladeer, only filly in the five-hour field and the only non-bred to the Travers Stakes to be run Saturday.

Ridden by Conn McCree, the 3-year-old filly was the third straight odds-on choice to triumph as she scored by five lengths, stepping the mile in 1:38 3/5.

The Green Tree Stable's school tie finished second, another five lengths ahead of Beverly Bogert's Gallivant. Four lengths away, Cedar Farm's Lovemore was fourth, with C. V. Whitney's Matruh in last place.

A crowd of 12,217 which watched a total of $853,375 for the day saw Aladeer turn in her second straight easy triumph. The Cleveland colorbearer carried 108 pounds to each of her rivals' 113.

Better Golf By SAM SNEAD

2. In the correct address position, as here pictured, the legs are straight but not locked, the arms extend straight down instead of being bent and the player's head is slightly turned to the right in order that he can keep his head fixed and immovable through the back and down swings. If you fail to turn your head slightly to the right in the address position, it is difficult to avoid moving the head when your hands are at the top. And if you move the head during the backswing, you are very apt to sway to the right in the backswing and to the left in the downswing. The head should be kept immovable throughout because it is the top anchor of the axis of your swing. Your knees are never locked during any part of the swing for that produces rigidity and a resulting lack of smoothness and accuracy. At impact, a good swing returns to approximately, but not exactly, the address position. The difference here is that in the downswing the left shoulder is moving up in a rather vertical plane as the right shoulder passes down under the chin. Simultaneously, there is a corresponding slight left hip upthrust and most of the weight is forward.

Loughran Park Wins

A squeeze play in the sixth inning enabled the Loughran Park team to score a 3-2 win over the sixth Park last night at the former's diamond. Lessick and Bill Glaser worked for the winners while Little and Larson formed the loser's battery. Lessick fanned eight batters.

Park Game Result

Hashbrook Park, behind the three-hit pitching of Janick, defeated Hutton Park last night by the score of 9 to 1. Janick fanned 10 to register his fourth win.

Rhief worked for the losers and gave up nine hits. He also whiffed nine batters.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

A NOT-AT-ALL SIMPLE QUESTION

A mother of three asks: "How can I keep my children from imitating relatives who have bad manners—particularly at the table?"

One of the very first rules of etiquette forbids a well-behaved parent to criticize an older member of the family in the hearing of a child. The only thing to do in a circumstance like this is to say: "I want you to do this or so because Daddy and I like it done that way." Then if the child says, "Uncle Charlie chews with his mouth open," you can say only, "Well, his mother and father didn't bother about telling him when he was a little boy."

Trip With Future In-Laws

Dear Mrs. Post: My fiancé's parents have invited me to go on a trip of several weeks. Please tell me what expenses I am expected to pay, if any. If none, to whom should I give a present afterwards?

Answer: They will pay all of your expenses. You yourself pay for nothing except what you may choose to buy. It is not necessary that you give any presents afterwards. Sometime when you see something that you think his mother or father would especially like to have, then it would be very nice to give it to her or to him if you can.

Invitation Does Not Mean Gift

Dear Mrs. Post: I'd heard that a friend with whom I have been out of touch a long time was being married. I wrote her a short note sending my best wishes. Consequently, I received an invitation to her wedding. Since I live many miles distant, this invitation was not received until after the wedding had taken place. Under these circumstances, is it required that I send a gift?

Answer: No obligation is incurred solely by the receipt of an invitation. Presents are given according to personal obligation or nearness of friendship.

Invitations to Attendants. Dear Mrs. Post: Should engraved wedding invitations be sent to the members of the wedding party? Answer: They are not necessarily sent to the men, but they are sent always to the bridesmaids because they, more than any others, are likely to be interested in the invitations and to want to keep them for souvenirs.

How early are wedding invitations mailed? The answer is found in the rules of etiquette. Wedding invitations and announcements obtainable for a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to her in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Lies, Says Soviet
 Berlin, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Soviet Government through its military news bureau denied today accounts published in Berlin newspapers licensed by the western powers that "thousands" of children in the province of Brandenburg had vanished without a trace. At the same time the Russians disclosed that 48 members of two secret youth groups were arrested during the last month. The statement declared the published stories were "lies and a dirty provocation" released as an "election trick" intended to embarrass the Soviet Military Government and the Soviet sponsored Socialist Unity Party on the eve of communal elections in the Russian zone.

Foreign News Is Interrupted by C.I.O.'s Embargo

New York, Aug. 13 (AP)—An embargo by a C.I.O. Communications Union against the transmission of foreign dispatches by eight cable and wireless companies hit international press traffic today, seriously interrupting the flow of news to and from the United States.

The Associated Press, United Press, International News Service, and Reuters—the four major world wire services—said the normal flow of foreign news had been "seriously disrupted" or "greatly restricted" by the action of the American Communications Association.

The embargo, which became effective at 2 p. m. (E.D.T.) yesterday, was called as a sympathy move with 300 A.C.A. strikers at Press Wireless, Inc., who walked out seven days ago in protest against wage and staff reductions. Press Wireless has said it would arbitrate the question of layoffs but that all but the 46 men discharged must return to work before the arbitration starts.

The A.C.A. insists that it will not consider arbitration unless the discharged men as well as those now on strike were permitted to return.

Only press traffic was affected by yesterday's embargo. Government and other commercial traffic was handled as usual by A.C.A. members.

Joseph Kehoe, national director of the A.C.A., said the embargo was "extremely effective," and Lawrence Kammet, A.C.A. publicity director, said "the embargo will last until the strike is settled."

Companies hit by the embargo are Western Union; R.C.A. Communications, Inc.; Mackay Radio and Telegraph Co., Inc.; Commercial Cable Co.; Globe Wireless; Radio, French Cable Co.; Tropical Radio, Telegraph Co., and Commercial Pacific Cable Co.

Police Probe Death On Operating Table

Santa Monica, Calif., Aug. 13 (AP)—Police today began a coroner-requested investigation into the operating-table death yesterday of the wife of Broadway Producer Michael Todd, who had filed suit for divorce less than a week ago.

Mrs. Bertha Todd, 39, died of a heart attack in St. John's Hospital as she was about to undergo surgery to suture a severed tendon in her right hand, said her physician, Dr. Stanley Immerman.

He noticed her heart beginning to fail after she had been given an anesthetic, Dr. Immerman said, but attempts to revive her were unsuccessful. She had been cut by her hand Saturday while peeling an orange at the Todd ranch near Del Mar racetrack, where Todd is operations manager.

Todd's divorce suit, filed last Wednesday, charged mental cruelty. They had been married 20 years and have a 17-year-old son, Michael.

Gypsum Sheathing Output Is Cut

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 13 (AP)—The National Gypsum Company announced today it had halted production of gypsum sheathing and sharply reduced its output of gypsum lath because of "unfavorable" O.P.A. price ceilings.

Melvin H. Baker, president of the firm, asserted that the company would be forced to sell gypsum sheathing "at practically no profit" under the present price ceiling. He said machines were being used at capacity, instead, to turn out ordinary wallboard which can be sold "at a fair profit."

Baker said that under O.P.A. regulations the ceiling on sheathing was the same as on ordinary wallboard—$25 per 1,000 board feet—although waterproofing of the sheathing added $4 to its production costs.

Pointing out that lumber was the only substitute for gypsum sheathing in outer construction, Baker declared:

"Because of the extreme shortage of lumber, it will be very difficult to finish homes with gypsum sheathing."

Located Here

Anna Marple, 21, who escaped from the North Jersey School at Little Falls, N. J., early yesterday morning was located by Sergeant William A. Krum and Melvin H. Baker.

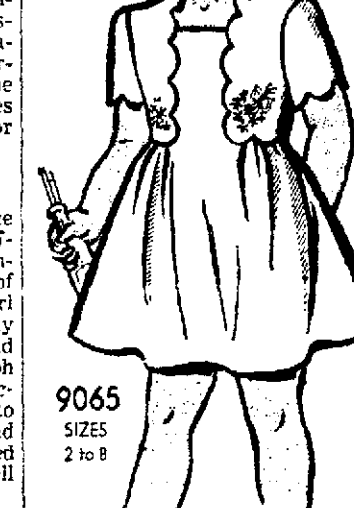

Pointing out that she was the only substitute for gypsum sheathing in outer construction, Baker declared:

"Because of the extreme shortage of lumber, it will be very difficult to finish homes with gypsum sheathing."

President Signs Bill Strengthening Foreign Service

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—President Truman today signed a bill expanding and strengthening the foreign service and expressed belief it will "make our efforts to win the peace that much more effective."

He said it was significant that the measure came to him at a time when the leaders of Secretary of State Byrnes at the Paris peace conference "are demonstrating how great a stake the United States has in world affairs."

The bill, the President said, creates a "new model" service to replace the "out moded plan laid down in 1924."

"One of the basic reforms is a revision of the salary structure so that a man without independent means can serve his country as an ambassador or minister or in any foreign service position as effectively as a wealthy man," the President said.

"At the same time that the bill improves compensation it subjects the service to more rigid requirements in regard to promotion and training; it seeks to keep our diplomats and consuls from losing touch with American life and thought by providing more frequent and varied assignments in this country; and it tries to make the service truly representative of the whole government and people by making it possible for the best qualified men and women in the country, in or out of the government, to have tours of duty with the foreign service in any of its ranks."
